

BETWIXT

Studies in Linguistics and Communication

7

SERIES EDITOR:

Giuseppe BALIRANO

Università degli Studi di Napoli L'Orientale (IT)

ADVISORY BOARD:

Paul BAKER

Lancaster University (UK)

Susan BASSNETT

University of Warwick (UK)

Vijay Kumar BHATIA

Macquarie University (Australia)

Giuditta CALIENDO

Université de Lille (FR)

Rudy LOOCK

Université de Lille (FR)

Catalina FUENTES RODRÍGUEZ

Universidad de Sevilla (ES)

Bettina MIGGE

University College Dublin (IE)

Tommaso MILANI

Göteborgs Universitet (SE)

Kay O'HALLORAN

Curtin University, Perth (Australia)

Corinne OSTER

Université de Lille (FR)

Oriana PALUSCI

Università di Napoli L'Orientale

Paul SAMBRE

KU Leuven (BE)

Maria Grazia SINDONI

Università di Messina (IT)

Girolamo TESSUTO

Università della Campania Luigi Vanvitelli (IT)

SOLE ALBA ZOLLO

SEE BRITAIN BY TRAIN

A Diachronic Multimodal Critical Discourse Analysis of Tourist Railway Posters

PAOLO
LOFFREDO

Publicato con il contributo del Dipartimento di Scienze Politiche dell'Università degli Studi di Napoli Federico II.

Proprietà letteraria riservata

In copertina

Foto "Codice binario" dell'autrice Rosa Anna Cirigliano.

Finito di stampare nel mese di dicembre 2018

ISBN 978-88-32193-00-8

ISSN 2611-1349 (collana)

PAOLO
LOFFREDO

© 2018 Paolo Loffredo Editore s.r.l.

Via Ugo Palermo, 6 - 80128 Napoli

www.loffredoeditore.com

paoloffredoeditore@gmail.com

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	7
List of Figures	9
Introduction	17
CHAPTER 1
A BRIEF HISTORY OF TOURISM IN THE UK	21
1.1 Medieval pilgrimage	21
1.2 The Grand Tour	23
1.3 Mass tourism	24
CHAPTER 2
THE DISCOURSE OF TOURISM AS A SPECIALIZED GENRE	27
2.1 The discourse of tourism and genre analysis	27
2.2 The discourse of tourism from a multidisciplinary perspective	29
2.2.1 The discourse of tourism from a sociological perspective	29
2.2.2 The discourse of tourism from a linguistic perspective	40
CHAPTER 3
MULTIMODAL CRITICAL DISCOURSE ANALYSIS	47
3.1 Approaches to discourse analysis	47
3.1.1 Critical Discourse Analysis	47
3.1.2 Wodak's discourse-historical approach	52
3.1.3 From Social Semiotics to Multimodal Critical Discourse Analysis	53
CHAPTER 4
YORK NATIONAL RAILWAY MUSEUM AND ITS COLLECTIONS	59
4.1 Historical background	60
4.2 The museum today	61
4.2.1 The museum plan	63
4.3 York National Railway Museum collections	66

CONTENTS

4.3.1 Palaces on Wheels	66
4.3.2 Not just technology	68
4.3.3 Numismatics	69
4.3.4 Photographs and postcards	70
4.3.5 Railway drawings	71
4.3.6 Paintings	74
4.4 Data: National Railway Museum poster collection	83
CHAPTER 5
A MULTIMODAL CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF BRITISH RAILWAY POSTERS	85
5.1 Early railway posters and the move towards professionalism in advertising	85
5.2 The Golden Age of railway posters	90
5.2.1 Great Western Railway and the complimentary role of posters	91
5.2.2 Southern Railway and the celebration of modernity	93
5.2.3 London, Midland and Scottish Railway and the collaboration with the Royal Academy	96
5.2.4 London and North Eastern Railway and its policy of “selling” the UK	99
5.3 Wartime railway posters: Is Your Journey Really Necessary?	108
5.4 Post-war railway posters and the return to leisure travelling	109
5.5 1960s-1990s railway posters	110
CHAPTER 6
SEA, NATURE AND CULTURE: THE REPRESENTATION OF BRITISH TRAVEL ACTORS AND PLACES	133
6.1 Sea and nature tourism: stereotypical representation of British travel actors and places	133
6.2 Cultural tourism: York and the topos of heritage	140
6.3 Britishness as a strategy to promote home tourism and corporate identity	141
CONCLUSIONS	149
References	153
Index	163

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Professor Adriana Corrado, who some years ago provided me with the opportunity to spend an unforgettable research period at the York National Railway Museum. I am also grateful to Professor Gabriella Di Martino for her invaluable guidance and precious suggestions. A very special thank you goes to Professor Giuseppe Balirano for his insightful remarks and endless patience in improving this project.

On a more personal note, my heartfelt thanks to my family and my friends for all their unconditional love and encouragement during this long journey and without whom all this work would not have been possible. Thank you.

LIST OF FIGURES

a.	Map of the Great Western railway system, circa 1930	91
b.	Map of the Southern Railway system	93
c.	Map of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway, 1938	97
d.	Map of the London and North Eastern Railway system	99
5.1	J.E. Millais, Bubbles , 1886	113
5.2	T.J. Barrat, Pears' Soap poster, 1886	113
5.3	The Carlisle Races , 1846	113
5.4	Fast Trains with Rapid Steamers to France , 1845	113
5.5	Blackpool , 1890s	114
5.6	Ascot Races , 1897	114
5.7	England and Scotland East Coast Route , 1911	114
5.8	A String of Pearls , 1910	115
5.9	Bright, Breezy, Bracing Bridlington , 1910	115
5.10	Brighton Railway - The Sunshine Line , 1914	115
5.11	Blackpool , 1922	116
5.12	Skegness is so Bracing , 1908	116
5.13	Skegness is so Bracing , 1926	116
5.14	Walrus and the Carpenter , 1920s	117
5.15	Tweedledum and Tweedledee , 1920s	117
5.16	Happy as a Sandboy , 1907	117
5.17	The Cornish Riviera , 1920s	117
5.18	The Naples of the North , 1920s	118
5.19	See Your Own Country First , 1920s	118
5.20	Internationale Ausstellung , 1906	118
5.21	Historic Bath , 1935	119
5.22	R. Lampitt, Cornwall & Devon , 1936	119
5.23	C. Mayo, Speed to the West , 1939	119
5.24	Waterloo Station-Wartime , 1947	120
5.25	Waterloo Station-Peace Time , 1947	120
5.26	Glorious Holidays Abroad-Venice , 1928	120
5.27	C. Monet, S. Maria della Salute , 1908	120
5.28	South for Winter Sunshine , 1929	120
5.29	I'm taking an Early Holiday , 1936	121

LIST OF FIGURES

5.30	Si, sono venuto in Inghilterra, 1936	121
5.31	Why Do They Call Me Sunny South Sam? , 1939	121
5.32	Speed , 1924	122
5.33	Carlisle-The Gateway to Scotland , 1924	122
5.34	Liverpool & Manchester Railway Centenary Celebrations , 1930	123
5.35	A Map of the Lake District , 1935	123
5.36	York Minster-England's Treasure House of Stained Glass , 1923	123
5.37	Girls in a Boat , 1930s	123
5.38	East Coast Joys , 1931	123
5.39	Scarborough , 1936	124
5.40	Robin Hood's Bay , 1936	124
5.41	Take Me by the Flying Scotsman , 1932	124
5.42	Then and Now , 1931	124
5.43	Constable , 1937	125
5.44	East Coast Frolics , 1933	125
5.45	Skegness is so Bracing , 1933	125
5.46	Bridlington , 1925	126
5.47	Ventnor , 1924	126
5.48	Is Your Journey Really Necessary? , 1940s	126
5.49	Not these shells... but THESE , 1940s	127
5.50	Perhaps this 'll teach you to stay at 'ome next 'oliday , 1940s	127
5.51	Aberystwyth , c. 1956	127
5.52	Better Go by Rail to Prestatyn , 1950s	127
5.53	All the Better for a Day at the Sea , 1950s	128
5.54	All the Better for a Day at the Sea , 1950s	128
5.55	Bath , 1956	128
5.56	Stratford on Avon , 1947	128
5.57	John. Yes, Dear , 1950s	129
5.58	Barry-by-the-Sea , 1961	129
5.59	Arrive Earlier by Train on the Kent Coast , 1963	129
5.60	Arrive Earlier by Train on the Sussex Coast , 1963	129
5.61	You tak' the high road and I'll tak' the rail road , 1960s	130
5.62	A Line for all Seasons , 1973	130
5.63	The Scarborough Steam Trip , 1982	130
5.64	A Link with the Past , 1985	131
5.65	Dedham Church as Seen from an Intercity Train , 1991	131
6.1	Scarborough , 1936	145

LIST OF FIGURES

6.2	Cruden Bay , 1931	145
6.3	W. Frith, Life at the Seaside , 1854, Royal Collection	145
6.4	East Coast , 1933	146
6.5	P.W. Steer, Children Paddling , 1894, Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge	146
6.6	Historic York , 1906	147
6.7	York Dick Turpin's Ride , 1934	147

To a railway man who has taught me devotion to and honesty at work. Thank you, papà!

FROM A RAILWAY CARRIAGE WINDOW

*Faster than fairies, faster than witches,
Bridges and houses, hedges and ditches;
And charging along like troops in a battle,
All through the meadows the horses and cattle;
All of the sights of the hill and the plain
Fly as thick as driving rain;
And ever again, in the wink of an eye,
Painted stations whistle by.*

*Here is a cart run away in the road
Lumping along with man and load;
And here is a mill and there is a river;
Each a glimpse and gone forever!*

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

INTRODUCTION

Tourism is a global phenomenon that affects every aspect of society from politics to economy to culture. It supports a global system and is characterized by a complex and massive structure aimed at satisfying individuals' specific needs. Tourism studies are characterized today by a trans-disciplinary approach with different applications: various disciplines tackle tourism or some aspects of it. It is thus not an integrated field of study, but instead made up of countless approaches and theories, including the fields of geography, economy, sociology, art, linguistics, and so forth.

The discourse of tourism has become pervasive in our society both in old and new media. It uses multimodal promotional strategies in order to convince people to visit places, often turning anonymous places into tourist resorts. The language of tourism has some features typical of specialized languages, for example, it is structured, it has specific lexical and syntactical features and, since it aims to reach a wider audience, it may contain elements from dialects or different registers. It is rooted in discourse, as context is fundamental for meaning making. Accordingly, it is value-committed; that is, it has ideological implications. It tries to foresee potential clients' needs and then meet their expectations. It is not a unidirectional language as tourists are not just the target of its discourse but themselves contribute to it: they can provide feedback to friends, relatives and strangers when they write on blogs, forums or websites. Tourists themselves become promoters and contribute to shaping the language of tourism itself. The language of tourism does not have a well-defined content (Calvi 2009) as it can fulfil various communicative functions – informative, persuasive and argumentative.

This work is an attempt to give an overview of British railway posters from a diachronic perspective, focusing on the posters used by UK rail companies to promote holiday destinations. A corpus of 150 posters from the end of the 19th century to the end of the 20th century has been gathered together from the York National Railway Museum collection. Through a multimodal critical discourse analysis approach, the research aims at identifying the verbal and visual tools used by campaigners to persuade British people to travel by train. In particular, the study aims to:

INTRODUCTION

- identify potential similarities and differences in the discursive patterns and visual features used over the years by British railway companies to persuade potential customers;
- detect the changing models of holiday-making, the development of advertising standards, and the approaches and aspirations of the different train operating companies throughout the years;
- verify to what extent the posters were also used by railway companies as an instrument of self-promotion and as an expression of corporate identity.

The book is divided into the following sections:

Chapter 1 presents a short outline of the history of British tourism, from the religious pilgrimages of the Middle Ages to the development of the Grand Tour between the 16th and 18th centuries, up until the birth of mass tourism in the 20th century and the development of leisure travel. Referring to Urry's study (2002), this chapter focuses on the social changes of a phenomenon that is no longer the preserve of an élite but is now available to the masses.

Chapter 2 provides an overview of the discourse of tourism from a multidisciplinary viewpoint, referring in particular to the seminal works in this field by Dann (1996) and Gotti (2006). Moreover, since many scholars have investigated the language of tourism as a specialized discourse offering diverse and sometimes contrasting theoretical models, this section summarizes these debates as a basis for the investigation that will be carried out in the following chapters.

Chapter 3 focuses on two main theoretical approaches to discourse analysis: Critical Discourse Analysis and Multimodal Discourse Analysis. They have recently converged in another method of enquiry known as Multimodal Critical Discourse Analysis which will be used for the analysis developed in Chapters 5 and 6.

Chapter 4 describes the corpus and subcorpora of railway posters collected from the York National Railway Museum. Due to the intertextual and interdiscursive nature of the posters under investigation, this chapter briefly illustrates the museum's history, its present organization and main collections.

INTRODUCTION

Chapter 5 offers a diachronic Multimodal Critical Discourse Analysis of the corpus collected. After analyzing a sample of early posters from the end of the 19th century, a wider enquiry is devoted to the so called Golden Age posters designed from the 1920s to 1930s, when the railways were organized into four main companies: the Great Western Railway (GWR), the Southern Railway (SR), the London Midland and Scottish Railway (LMS) and the London and North Eastern Railway (LNER). The following subsection investigates a smaller corpus of posters issued during the war when leisure travel was discouraged. Another subsection focuses on the posters produced after the war up until the 1950s when the railways were nationalized and began to promote holidaying in the UK again. The last part of the analysis is based on a sample of the 1960s – 1990s posters, when there was a decline of domestic holidays due to the spread of cheap package holidays abroad and a reduction in train travel due to the substantial growth in car ownership.

Chapter 6 focuses on three main thematic areas. The first section is a Multimodal Critical Discourse Analysis of posters promoting seaside resorts, identifying the linguistic and visual features of the texts used to represent social actors. The second section focuses on the posters aimed at advertising cultural tourism through the topoi of heritage and authenticity. The last section concentrates on the concept of Britishness as a strategy to promote nature, sea and cultural tourism at home.

